Heat flow map of the Western U.S. showing the high heat flow associated with the Northwestern Volcanic Province and the location of the current study within this province. This region and the Basin and Range physiographic province immediately to the south are the largest contiguous high heat flow regions in the U.S.